ENJOYED

Was the Robert Emmet Celebration of the Louisville Hibernians.

Attorney J. J. Kavanagh and Father Cronin Deliver Addresses.

Songs of Ireland and Recitation Heard by a Large Audience.

TRUE SPIRIT OF PATRIOTISM

A large and appreciative audience enjoyed the Robert Emmet birthday celebration on Tuesday night at Falls City Hall under the auspices of Division 1, A. O. H. This is another striking example of the toleration and patriotism of the Irish Catholics, who everywhere revere and honor the memory of Ireland's young Protestant martyr patriot. Had it not been that Lenten services were being held in the various churches the hall would not have accommodated the gathering of Hibernians and their friends.

President Thomas Tarpy occupied the chair, with the Very Rev. James B. Cronin, V. G., the County Chaplain, seated on his right, and County President William J. Connelly on his left. The Chairman extended the ladies and gentlemen present a hearty Irish welcome, noting the fact that Division 1 annually celebrated Emmet's anniversary. He was happy in his introductions, and when the programme was completed the unanimous expression was that the division had given the best entertainment in its history.

Attorney J. J. Kavanagh, who was the principal speaker, delivered an eloquent address on Emmet and Ireland, that evoked frequent rounds of applause and left its impress on his hearers. Attorney Kavanagh said it was both a pleasure and an honor to address such an audience, met to celebrate the birthday of a great man and pay tribute to a young hero whose laudable and supreme effort proved a melancholy failure. To understand the motives and aspirations of Robert Emmet, to understand his life, was to understand the life of Ireland. He next dwelt on the four periods of Ireland, the first being the ancient and the second the golden age, which saw the coming of St. Patrick. For 1400 years the Irish had kept their faith and maintained their high character. Ireland was a land of peace and prosperity when other nations were warring and was happy until the conquest of Henry II. For six hundred years Ireland's history has been melancholy, but not the most cruel rulers could subdue the Irishman, who was ever true to his land and the faith. The penal code of William of Orange proved futile and the Irish still moved forward in intelligence and principle. Reviewing the work of Cromwell and the Irish Parliament, he pointed out that the Irish character revolts at bigotry and venerate the name and memory of the young Irish martyr who laid down his life for his country. Robert Emmet was clean, courageous and true and possessed great qualities. Reviewing his life and deeds, which won the admiration of the world, he denounced in vigorous terms the traitors, betrayers and influences that were responsible for Emmet's failure.

Very Rev. James P. Cronin, V. G., was warmly applauded when he declared that wherever Irish men and women gathered there was found the highest spirit of patriotism. The Irish have ever taken with them the love of that country and have re-modeled that into love for the country of their adoption. Father Cronin predicted that they will soon see the realization of what Emmet prayed for and his epitaph be written.

Capital solos were next rendered by Miss Dorothy Norton and Miss Catherine Canary, who were loudly encored. State President Patrick Walsh sent his regrets, being detained at home because of the illness of his wife, and County President William J. Connelly spoke for both. The presence of so many, he declared, attested their interest and love for the Ancient Order, which has led all Catholic fraternal societies. Congratulating Division 1, he urged all members to keep alive the Hibernian spirit, to receive holy communion at St. Patrick's church on Sunday morning, March 15, and to join with the County Board in making the entertainment at Macauley's that night a great success. Mrs. Leo Schmitt and Miss Lydia Canary rendered their solos most artistically, and were followed by Daniel McCarthy, whose recitation of Gerald Barry and the pipemen at Enniscorthy, depicted with the real pique of that day, evoked the greatest applause and was a rare Irish treat. Miss Rose Henley's vocal solo was well received, and completed a musical programme which is seldom equaled. Prof. Leo Schmitt and Prof. Patrick O'Sullivan generously lent their services as accompanists. Thomas Keenan and Attorney Walsh were called on and were happy and witty in their brief responses. Taken altogether President Tarpy and Division 1 scored another success and made many new friends.

INJURY CAUSED DEATH.

Earl Tracy, the eleven-year-old son of Edward and the late Catherine Ford Tracy, was buried Monday morning from St. Augustine's church in Jeffersonville. Death resulted from an affection of the brain, resulting from an injury sustained two years ago while playing with his youthful compatriots. His death occurred at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Patrick Tracy, where he had been since his mother died six weeks before. The father, who is a locomotive engineer on the Pennsylvania lines, and one brother, Ford Tracy, survive him.

MEN'S MISSION.

The mission for women which has been going on at St. Louis Bertrand's church this past week will come to a close with Papal benediction tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The fathers in charge are more than pleased with the success of the first week, the attendance being extra large at all of the devotions, especially in the evening, when capacity crowds attended, it being necessary on several evenings to place extra chairs in front of the chancel rail. The men's mission, which will continue all next week, will begin tomorrow morning at the 10:30 o'clock mass with a mission sermon and in the evening at 7:30 o'clock with rosary instruction, rosary, mission sermon and benediction, the mission masses to be every morning at 5 and 8 o'clock and the mission to close on Sunday evening, March 15, at 7:30 o'clock. Confessions will commence on Tuesday afternoon at 3:30, and from that time will also be heard every evening after services. On account of the mission the communion day of the Holy Name Society has been postponed from tomorrow, which is their day proper, until the following Sunday, when every member of the parish, whether a member or not, will receive in a body. Rev. Fathers M. J. Ripple and Francis O'Neill conducting the mission. In deference to the mission the saloons for a radius of several blocks in the neighborhood of the church will be closed during the hours of the evening exercises.

HAPPILY SURPRISED.

Col. John J. Score was given a happy surprise at his home on Zane street last Saturday night, when his amiable wife invited a number of his friends to a bounteous dinner in honor of his birthday. The gallant Colonel was preparing for church when called, and before he knew what was transpiring he was surrounded by Fire Chief Tim Lehane, Col. Joe P. McGinn, Ben Kruse, George Bender, William T. Meehan, Harry Veemers, Eugene McCarthy and William M. Higgins, who presented him a magnificently framed steel engraving of the "Return From Calvary" as a memento of their friendship. This over, all proceeded to the appetizing dinner presided over by the hostess and her sister. A social hour followed, during which Joe McGinn won and nearly lost a box of shirts, while Ben Kruse captured the ties. Toasts were responded to by several and for Mrs. Score and her husband many returns of the day were hoped for.

MEAGHER'S SWORD.

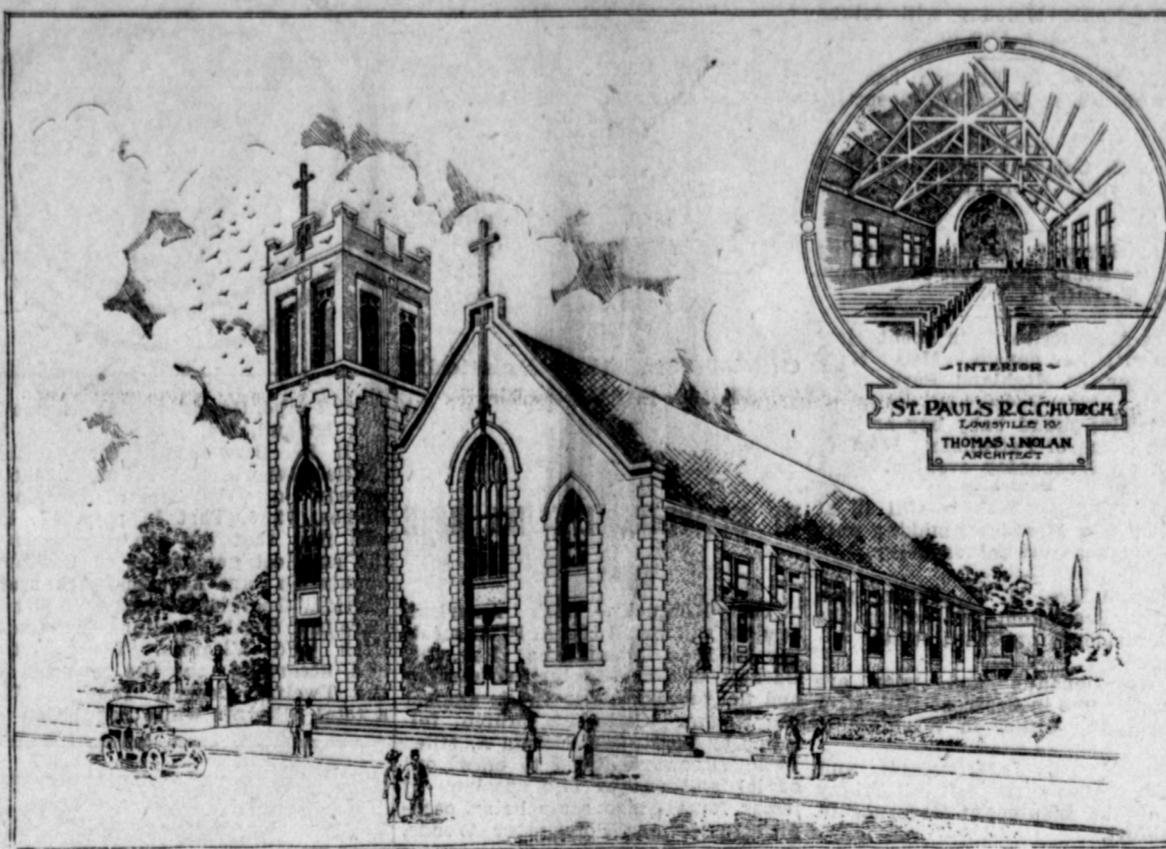

The sword of Gen. Thomas Francis Meagher, commander of the Irish Brigade in the civil war, was on Wednesday presented to the University of Notre Dame to rest near the body of Father Corby, the Chaplain who with hands uplifted gave in the midst of shot and shell final absolution to the soldiers of the brigade on the battlefield of Gettysburg. The presentation of the sword to the University was made by United States Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, where Gen. Meagher died while acting as Governor. W. Bourke Cochran, of New York, was the orator selected to tell of the significance that attaches to Meagher's sword—the General's sentence to be hanged for treason by the British Government, owing largely to a speech in Dublin when as representative of the Young Ireland revolution party Meagher had "declined to stigmatize the sword," and had given as a reason the famous passage beginning: "At its blow a great nation started from the waters of the Atlantic." In the same speech the same gentlemen are fighting for the passage of the bill abolishing the present custom of the Magistrates sitting as a Fiscal Court, in which move, to the surprise of many, they are backed by Democratic newspapers, which are using every method in their power to accomplish this end, claiming that it is the wish of the people, when only a mere handful voted on the question in November, most of whom were Progressives, who had that section as one of the principal planks in their platform. Messrs. Henry Johnson and John Chandler, two of the chief advocates of the measure, are Bull Moose leaders in every sense of the word. The daily papers have not even been fair to the Magistrates in their discussion of the question, one of them going so far as to say that the Magistrates did not dare declare themselves previous to the election, when three of them had no opposition.

The local Bull Moose organ, which was established since the election for the sole purpose of venting its spleen on anyone who contributed to the success of the Democratic ticket, has just been ordered away from its quarters in the Watterson Hotel, Manager Jones stating that the continued attacks on reputable persons did his business no good, so the whole Progressive headquarters, bag and baggage, have been thrown out on the cold, cruel word. Conspicuous among the advertisers who are helping the Bull Moose organ to exist are Wood Axton, the ever ready meal ticket of the Progressives; George Beckmann, whose place on East Market street is a popular rendezvous for the A. LEGISLATURE

Will Adjourn on St. Patrick's Day, Tuesday, March Seventeenth.

Louisville's Select Coterie Attempting to Direct Legislation.

Chronic Progressive Kickers Are Fired From the Watterson Hotel.

HAAGER LEADS BECKHAM FORCES

With the adjournment of the Legislature only a week from next Tuesday, efforts are being made to rush through pet bills in preference to important legislation, and a great amount of valuable time is being wasted in the discussion pro and con of the former class, the vice commission bill being a sample. This measure is advocated by a select coterie of Louisville's upper set, who never get in touch with the public pulse by association with the common people, but every now and then meet in the Seelbach Hotel and settle how our public government should be conducted, the gas rate fixed, regulation of vice, commission form of government or any other weighty problem of the day.

To the credit of the present General Assembly it is believed that the vice commission bill will be rejected, principally on account of one of the leading sections of the bill, which proposes to close the tenderloin district, one or two of the backers claiming that they will busy themselves in finding employment for the women, taking it for granted that driving them out in the streets will have reformed them. It has been suggested that the above select crew constitute themselves into a little reform band and traverse the blighted sections preaching reform, thereby possibly doing some good and attaining the principal object at stake—publicity. This would defeat the possible invasion of respectable neighborhoods in case of passage of the bill, but the entire Louisville delegation will try and prevent its adoption.

Apologists of the above, the same gentlemen are fighting for the passage of the bill abolishing the present custom of the Magistrates sitting as a Fiscal Court, in which move, to the surprise of many, they are backed by Democratic newspapers, which are using every method in their power to accomplish this end, claiming that it is the wish of the people, when only a mere handful voted on the question in November, most of whom were Progressives, who had that section as one of the principal planks in their platform. Messrs. Henry Johnson and John Chandler, two of the chief advocates of the measure, are Bull Moose leaders in every sense of the word. The daily papers have not even been fair to the Magistrates in their discussion of the question, one of them going so far as to say that the Magistrates did not dare declare themselves previous to the election, when three of them had no opposition.

The local Bull Moose organ, which was established since the election for the sole purpose of venting its spleen on anyone who contributed to the success of the Democratic ticket, has just been ordered away from its quarters in the Watterson Hotel, Manager Jones stating that the continued attacks on reputable persons did his business no good, so the whole Progressive headquarters, bag and baggage, have been thrown out on the cold, cruel word. Conspicuous among the advertisers who are helping the Bull Moose organ to exist are Wood Axton, the ever ready meal ticket of the Progressives; George Beckmann, whose place on East Market street is a popular rendezvous for the A. P. A.'s, and last but not least the firm of Col. Pat Callahan, the latter thus manifesting his friendship for the Progressives in a substantial way, and which alliance was indignantly denied when the statement appeared in these columns before. As in all like instances, the public soon grows tired of a chronic kicker and perpetual sorehead, as is evidenced by the wanling interest in this publication, whose funeral obsequies are expected to be announced at an early date.

The reputed political sagacity of Gen. Percy Haley seems sorely at fault by the fact that the Beckham Senatorial race in this district is being handled by ex-Chief of Police Haager, who only a few months ago was espousing the Progressive cause for dear life, and it goes without saying that the rank and file of Democracy of Jefferson county will hardly enlist behind the Beckham banner while Haager holds the reins, assisted by Filmore, Tyson, Laban Phelps, Mel Lapaille and others of Haager's following.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Celebration of A. O. H. Now An Assured Success.

The committee representing the County Board, A. O. H., met Thursday evening and heard reports pertaining to the annual St. Patrick's day celebration, which will take place at Macauley's Theater on Sunday evening, March 15, at 8:15 o'clock. Judging from present indications the affair this year promises to eclipse anything of its kind given in the past, the members being jubilant over the fact that they have secured Lieut.-Gov. Edward J. McDermott as the orator of the evening, which in itself is a guarantee of success. In addition the committee has secured some of the best talent in the city for a musical programme, and the latest scenic pictures of the Ireland of today, which are sure to prove instructive as well as entertaining. Reserved seats to any part of the house, exclusive of the boxes, are now on sale at twenty-five cents each and can be secured from any member of the Committee of Arrangements, who are Thomas W. Tarpy, Daniel O'Keefe, Charles J. Finegan, Matt J. O'Brien, Thomas J. Langan and County President W. J. Connelly. A complete programme will be announced in our next issue, containing a list of the vocal and instrumental numbers in detail. Several of our leading clergymen will occupy boxes, and the different Catholic societies have been invited to be present at the celebration in honor of Ireland's patron saint and scholar.

APPOINTS JUDGE O'DOHERTY.

The appointment of former Judge Matt O'Doherty as a member of the Board of Directors of the Louisville Industrial School of Reform was made known by Mayor Buschmeyer on Monday. Judge O'Doherty succeeds C. W. White, whose term would have expired in May, but who resigned several weeks ago. Successors to H. Harry Campbell and Isaac T. Woodson will be appointed in May.

CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

The Central Committee of the Catholic Knights of America will meet next Friday night in St. John's Hall, Clay and Walnut. President Ben Kruse wants all officers and delegates present, as the business promises to be very interesting. Plans are maturing for some active work among the branches, work that will increase the membership. Reports from the Supreme officers show that new members are being constantly received into the order everywhere throughout the country.

FORTY HOURS' PRAYER.

The Forty Hours' adoration will next take place here in St. Ann's church, Seventh and Davies avenue. Rev. Father John T. Hill, the pastor, will conduct the beautifully impressive devotions, which begin tomorrow morning and continue until Tuesday. Father Hill will be assisted by a number of the local clergy.

LOUISVILLE, SATURDAY, MARCH 7, 1914.

fierce denunciation of this Orange lawlessness by Richard Holt, a quiet, moderate Liverpool ship owner, who represents the solid business men of England, who are shocked by these appeals and incitements to lawlessness by leaders of the Conservative party. The second debate on the insurance act elicited from Lloyd-George the most successful speech of his whole Parliamentary career, for by skillful cross examination he got Bonar Law into such a ridiculous maze of self-contradictions as made the unfortunate Tory leader a greater laughing stock than ever, and the whole debate exposed the folly of the whole Tory agitation against the insurance act.

While Asquith is working out his scheme of concessions the Tories in the House of Commons become daily more restive, and the victory in Leith probably will add fuel to the flame. There have been rumors for some days that disorders in Ulster may break out at any moment, and though concerted disorder in the House of Commons has not yet materialized, it is possible at any moment. But sectarian rioting, with attacks on peaceful Catholic citizens, will not help but harm the Orange movement, and disorder in the House of Commons, though exasperating and disagreeable, will not help the Orangemen.

The chief problem of the near future is the character of concessions Asquith will offer. They are not yet shaped, and choice is difficult amid so many possible solutions. Home rule within home rule is definitely rejected by Orangemen. Permanent exclusion and all Ulster is as definitely rejected by Nationalists and Liberals. For the moment the only scheme which Liberals and Nationalists would willingly try is Plunkett's suggestion of the temporary inclusion of Ulster with a right to demand exclusion after five or ten years' experience of a home rule Parliament.

UNVEILING CEREMONIES.

At a meeting of the representatives of the various Irish-American societies held at the Raleigh Hotel in Washington, for the purpose of conferring with Col. W. W. Harts, U. S. A., Superintendent of Public Buildings and Grounds, as to a suitable date for the unveiling of the Barry statue in Franklin square, it was decided to fix the date of May 15 and 16 for the ceremonies. On the first day there will be a journey to Mount Vernon by the members of the several societies to pay a tribute to the Father of Our Country. A wreath will be placed upon the tomb of Washington, and speeches will be made. The unveiling will take place on May 16, when Miss Elise H. Hepburn, of Philadelphia, the great-grand-niece of the Commodore, will draw the silken cord which will disclose the statue of the Father of the American Navy to the world. Major Gen. William Barry, U. S. A., will be the Marshal of the parade, which will precede the unveiling. At the close of the unveiling there will be a banquet at one of the local hotels at which prominent men will be invited to speak. It is the intention of the committee to invite the President and his Cabinet and members of the Senate and House of Representatives. The following societies will participate in the ceremonies: The Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the Irish-American Historical Society, the United Irish League, the Irish Fellowship Club of Chicago, the old Hibernian Society of Baltimore and the Irish-American Society of Scranton. The Friendly Sons of St. Patrick will bring with them from New York a chorus of 100 male voices. It is planned to make the affair a big celebration and thousands are expected from all sections of the country to participate in the parade and the other ceremonies in connection with the unveiling.

CALLED BY DEATH.

Mrs. Adelaide Schulten, wife of John J. Schulten, entered into eternal rest Tuesday morning at St. Dominic's Infirmary, following a brief illness from heart failure. She was sixty-four years old and was a leading figure in German Catholic church and social circles, being noted for her charity and goodness of heart. Mrs. Schulten was the mother of Leo Schulten, who had just returned from his wedding trip, and Alexia Schulten, and a sister of John Wolford, of New Albany. The funeral was held Thursday morning from St. Anthony's church, of which the deceased was one of the most devout members.

BLACK HAND WORK.

A "black hand" letter, demanding that he carry $5,000, ostensibly that the writer might hold him up and release him of it, threatening speech on the opening night of the session. That speech was interpreted by Asquith's own followers as so meek in spirit as to suggest a readiness to offer Orangemen large concessions, while the spirit of the Liberal rank and file is against all compromise and all concession, and that spirit is even stronger among the working class electors, who have been driven to fury by Sir Edward Carson's threats and by the apparent immunity given to aristocratic rebels in contrast with the severity meted out to working class strikers and agitators.

Private meetings of the Liberals during the week have only been restrained by respect for Redmond's judgment from passing resolutions against all concessions, and in short at this moment, though some concessions certainly will be offered by Asquith, the whole feeling of the Liberals is against compromise in any shape.

The speech of the Irish debate which was the most successful was a

Rev. Father Francis O'Neill O. P., Delivers a Powerful Address.

MANY NEW MEMBERS RECEIVED

In the presence of several hundred representative Catholic men from all sections of the city, President John A. Doyle assumed the government of the St. Vincent de Paul Society of Louisville at the quarterly meeting held last Sunday afternoon at the hall of the Knights of Columbus on Fourth avenue. Following the opening prayer by the Rev. Father Donahue the new President in feeling and expressive words announced the death of their late President, J. J. Caffrey, who was an ideal Vincentian and executive. Under his leadership the Louisville Vincentians have set an example that was being noticed and followed by the conferences throughout the country. President Doyle said he realized the weight of the responsibilities placed upon him, and pleaded with the members to assist him in every way possible. Several of the Presidents of conferences took advantage of the occasion to express approval of his utterances and assure him of their support.

The conference reports showed a steady increase in membership, with St. Patrick's still in the lead. Thirty-four members were enrolled and declared entitled to all the spiritual benefits conferred on the true Vincentians.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing
the Past Week—General
News Notes.

Division 4 will meet next Monday night.

Don't forget the date, Sunday, March 15, at Macauley's Theater.

The County Board meets next Thursday evening at Bertrand Hall.

The purchase of a home by Division 3 has given the order a big impetus locally.

The Emerald Hibernian Social Club had the biggest success of their career on Mardi Gras night.

The talk of ex-State President George J. Butler at the last County Board meeting hit the right spot.

Every Hibernian in the city should act as a committee of one in boosting the St. Patrick's day celebration.

Those attending the meeting of Division 4 Monday night will be given a shamrock imported directly from Ireland.

Ex-National President Dolan has been honored with appointment to the City Planning Committee by the Mayor of Syracuse.

None enjoyed the Emmet celebration of Division 1 more than Hon. John Ryan, now in charge of the city pump department.

Hibernians nearly everywhere observed the anniversary of Robert Emmet's birth with exercises that reflect credit on the order.

The biggest initiation Ohio has ever had will occur on March 29 at Cleveland, when 1,000 candidates will be received into the order.

The divisions of Manchester, N. H., have aroused interest in the study of Irish history, and a contest in the parish schools is in prospect.

Binghamton Hibernians expect to have several State officials at their St. Patrick's day celebration, the feature of which will be a banquet.

Indianapolis Hibernians have completed all arrangements for their St. Patrick's day celebration and the largest parade yet seen in that city.

There is marked activity among the Hibernians of Syracuse, where large numbers of new members are being secured for nearly all of the ten divisions.

Oregon Hibernians want no hundred years of peace celebration with England and protest against any appropriation of money by Congress for that purpose.

Among the speakers at an open meeting held Sunday in Minneapolis by Division 3 were National President Regan, Hon. D. W. Lawler and State President Doyle.

The division and auxiliary at Iowana, Iowa, are arranging for a big initiation on April 19. They will have with them Rev. Father Shine, State President of Nebraska.

The Hibernians of Terre Haute will celebrate in honor of St. Patrick on Sunday, March 15. A degree team will come from Chicago to initiate a large class of candidates.

ATTEND ST. PATRICK'S.

Following their usual custom the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Ladies' Auxiliary will attend the 6:30 o'clock mass on the Sunday preceding St. Patrick's day, which will be March 15, at St. Patrick's church, and receive holy communion in a body. County President W. J. Connolly has requested all of the divisions to require their Recording Secretaries to notify all of the members to be present on that morning in honor of the church of the patron saint of the order and out of respect to Very Rev. Father Cronin, the pastor, who is County Chaplain of the A. O. H., being held in high esteem by every member of the order. A section of one of the aisles will be reserved for the divisions and auxiliary.

RESTING IN FLORIDA.

Col. James P. Whallen, Mrs. Whallen, Jailer Charles Foster and a party of friends left Louisville for a season of rest and recuperation in Florida. Col. Whallen plans to be gone about three weeks. He will spend most of his time in and about St. Petersburg, stopping at the Hotel Detroit. The object of his trip is rest and recuperation after the worry with business affairs and sorrow incident to the death of his brother, Col. John H. Whallen, in December, since which time all the many and varied business interests of the firm of Whallen Bros. have been borne by him alone. Later in the week Frank McGrath, Democratic City and County Chairman, left for St. Petersburg to return with his family to Louisville. He will only be away a few days. Mrs. McGrath and her children have been wintering in the popular winter resort. Former Mayor and Mrs. Head are also in St. Petersburg, and may return with Col. Whallen's party. While in the South, Col. Whallen plans a trip to Ft. Myers, which is only a short distance from St. Petersburg, to see the Louisville baseball team play some of its practice games. Jailer Foster will return in about ten days.

GOOD WOMEN GONE.

A long and useful life was brought to a close Thursday when death claimed Mrs. Mary Callahan, aged seventy years, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Roger McGrath, 2011 Sherwood avenue. Mrs. Callahan was the widow of Michael Callahan and is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ella McGrath and Mrs. William Fried, both of Louisville; four sons, Martin S. Callahan, who is connected with the K. and L. Thomas J. Callahan, of the Louisville fire department; John P. Callahan, and Patrick G. Callahan, of Houston, Texas, and fourteen grandchildren. Arrangements for the funeral services were not completed when this went to press.
